CLIVE GREASBY RETIRES
(Rinkaz Finance, part of the Condon Group, farewells long time Broker)

Clive Greasby, long term stalwart in the finance broking industry has finally decided to take the big step to retirement, well at least formally.

Clive, through Rinkaz Finance in its developing forms, has been organising asset based leasing and finance for over thirty years earning over this time an enviable reputation in the industry. Clive's career however spans almost fifty years, having started his working life in England in a variety of banks before immigrating to Australia in 1941. In 1981 Clive decided to become a broker and has been one ever since gaining an enviable reputation for providing a personal service to his clients in and around NSW.

Clive has now decided that the time has come to take a very well-earned rest and on 28 July he will officially retire to spend some quality time with Patricia, his wife of 42 years, his children and many grandchildren.

Stuart Cunningham has decided to endeavour to step up to the challenge of bravely filling Clive's shoes and is commencing to take on the delivery of Rinkaz's services which he will do in full upon Clive's departure.

Whilst we are greatly saddened that Clive will no longer be a full time part of our office, we are proud that he has been part of our team. He has assured us however that he will visit often and that he will always be available to share his wealth of knowledge and experience with Stuart; and who knows after a reasonable period of rest he may even take a call or two!

We wish Clive and Patricia a long and happy retirement.
